terrific uproar marked by shouting in Viennese taverns, riotous displays and socialist schemes for reprisals.

Be Appreciative

Few people realize the extent of the courteous services rendered them by merchants. Many a favor is extended which does not elicit the appreciation it deserves, and often the merchant himself wonders if his attempt to treat the public with courtesy is worth while.

Several merchants of this city have been cashing checks for people. This is a convenience for the customer, and it means that the merchant must keep sufficient money on hand to accommodate the people and that he must also pay the check charges when he pays the checks thru the bank. It is not too much to expect that those who get checks cashed at the stores should make some purchases, and not take all the cash out of the merchant's till, without giving him a chance to make a sale.

Cashing checks is not the only convenience merchants extend the public. Many keep postage stamps for the people to buy. The use of business telephones is allowed the public in this city, and citizens are saved hundreds of dollars each year by not having to use pay stations. But the merchants who sell rent and other things to accommodate the public when the privilege of using their phones is not abused.

Some may say that the merchant does not extend these courtesies for his health, that he expects business returns. But it should be remembered that he could withhold the courtesies and still get business. To be sure, he expects some appreciation in trade and he has a right to expect it. People who accept favors from him should be willing to give him their business.

We Get a Dividend

For the first time in many moons crowds today will fill the lobby of the Ayers National Bank. The dividend institution is paying a 10% dividend to depositors, its first payment since that black 21st of November, 1932. The dividend is small, but it is something, and the depositors are thankful.

In the dark days that followed the closing of the bank, some thought it might be reopened; but as irregularities in the management of its affairs began to be exposed and the involved condition of the bank became more fully known, people wondered whether it could ever get a dividend. Considering the legal and financial entanglements which beset the bank, the time it has taken to get the present payment is not surprising.

The checks coming from the bank inspire the hope that there will be more such checks in the future. The release of $275,000 in Morcan county at the present time is bound to have a stimulating effect on business, and will renew the courage of the people.
Life is a little brighter and the future looks more promising.

It is safe to say that the bulk of the money released by the bank will be spent for things people have had to do without for many long months, necessities they could not previously afford. The additional buying power is highly appreciated at this time by everybody.

Stock in The Moon

There died in Kansas City this week one Virgil Moore, who made use of the moon and the planets as guides to trading in stocks and bonds. In 1918 this man married an astrologer and set up a novel business weather forecasting service. After he had made some successful predictions, he grain and stock traders began taking notice of him.

But he was more than a "moon trader." He was in the Klondike in 1894, three years before the gold rush, and published the first magazine in Alaska, writing all of it himself. When Moore discovered the largest coal mine in Alaska, he published the first newspaper in Nome, and sold Tex Richard the site for his first saloon in Nome. Moore and Richard were in the theater business there for five years.

With such a life of adventure behind him, it is little wonder that this man could take stock in the moon and the planets. After he had done so many first things in pioneer Alaska, he would naturally seek new worlds to conquer, and he would not care much whether they lay outside the orbit of the earth. Space would mean nothing to him.

He found astrology a fascinating study. Mars and Saturn were the benign planet and Jupiter and Venus the bullish. Moore made them pay in stock profits and in grain profits. He cared nothing as to whether they were inhabited but their movements thru the heavens meant much to him.

Eve Has Her Day
If women continue to crowd to the front as they are doing now, the front will have to be moved up some to make more room. The University of Chicago press has published a report entitled "Women and Wealth," which gives the following facts gleaned from a survey:

"Thirty-eight per cent of the nine billion dollars of income reported to the Federal Government in 1928 was received by women.

"Seventy-seven thousand women had an annual income of over $5,000, the average being $19,129.

"Of the 18,000,000 stockholders in the United States 7,740,000 are women.
"Women are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of life insurance outstanding.

"Women represent 80 per cent of consumed buying power.

"Before the depression the average weekly salary of professional and business women in New York City was $58."

We have for sometime suspected much of this information, and we might add to it the fact that women have always been just about as important as they are now. Rome got its start when a tribe of husky young men kidnapped the pretty daughters from another tribe. When the enraged fathers took up arms and set forth to recapture the young women, the girls refused to be taken back home.

Women have always been the center of family life. For their benefit most of the laws of property were made, for their protection men have paid billions in insurance premiums. Behind every man of destiny there has been a woman, which pitiful history has shown was not always his wife or his mother.

The difference in the status of woman now and in other days is that she has become materially prosperous and now rules from the foreground.
Formerly she ruled from the background and depended on her wit for whatever prosperity she might enjoy.

Save The Wild Life

Arthur Newton Pack, president of the American Nature Association, urges American friends of wild life to protect vigorously against proposed cuts in the Congressional appropriation for the U. S. Biological Survey.

These cuts, if put into effect, he points out, would eliminate the division of food habits research, and the investigation of waterfowl, and greatly reduce the acquisition of bird refuges and the protection of migratory birds.

The result, he predicts, would be greatly to lessen the chances of survival of many species of birds. And yet the total sum of money saved by the government as a consequence of the cuts would be insignificant, in comparison with the enormous totals being spent for other projects.

Preservation of wild life has been a program close to the hearts of many thousands of Americans, for the government has been highly regrettable if the program should collapse because of the government's financial difficulties.

Modern Fairy Tale

There is something oddly anachronistic about that little news dispatch from Switzerland telling how the Emperor Haile Selassie of Abyssinia just has bought a new three-motored Swiss airplane and is having a throne installed in it.

The emperor, it seems, wants to make some plane flights. But he sees retards. But it should be remembered that he could withhold the courtesies
and still get business. To be sure, he
willing to give him their business.

Now the airplane is the very incarnation of up-to-date modernism; and the throne is a vestigial survival of an outworn day.

The queer way in which the bustling present and the distant past coexist nowadays never was illustrated better than in this queer business of the Emperor Selassie's aerial throne.

Mary J. Laurie is Summoned by Death

Mary J. Laurie was born July 25, 1838, the daughter of Henderson E. and Martha Massey.

She was united in marriage to George W. Laurie, October 16, 1861.
Mr. Laurie passed away October 8, 1902.

To this union seven children were born. Three daughters having preceded their mother in death. One in infancy. Mrs. E. F. Jordan, wife of the late Dr. E. F. Jordan of Grand Island, Nebraska, January 16, 1928, and Miss Esther M. Laurie May 20, 1902.

Mrs. Laurie is survived by two daughters, two sons, three grandchildren, four great grandchildren and one brother.

It is seldom that one has to chronicle the death of one who possessed so many virtues as that of the deceased. She had a character that was well rounded and full orb'd. Her vision of life was broad.

She was a person who made friends and loved their friendship of life, but her vision of life and duty extended farther than the immediate community in which she lived.

She took an interest in all those forward movements which were for the welfare of humanity.

At the age of sixteen years she united with the First Baptist church of Pekin, Illinois, later bringing her membership to the First Baptist church of this city. Thus being one of the oldest members of the church, where her interest in the work continued with no abatement.

She loved to support the work of the Kingdom, and to associate with those who loved with her the one Common Lord and like many of old, were given the best of her treasure for the announcing of her Saviour, so she did what she could.

It was in the home that the influence of her life was profoundly felt.
Waiting for her family to herself and to her home with an undying love.

For a number of years she has been an invalid and although she was much of this time in suffering, she was un-complaining and bore her pain with fortitude.

On February 18th she passed to meet all the angels on the other side, being ninety-five years of age.
The influence of such a life can never cease. The sun of life can set and go down over the western sky, but the radiance of her life will shine forever on the lives of those who knew her, and her kind words can never die.

Of her it can be said "right blessed are the dead that die in the Lord from henceforth; yes, aith the Spirit that they may rest from their labours, and their works do follow them."

The funeral service will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the residence, 353 Finley street, Rev. T.
Harley Marshall officiating. Interment will be made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

10 Married Women In Schools Affected By Resolution Of Board

Ten teachers of the Jacksonville public school system will not be re-employed for the next term if the action of the Board of Education in regard to married women teachers is carried out. The Board in a resolution adopted at its meeting this week took official action to clear the school rooms of all married women who have been serving as instructors.

All of the teachers affected by the resolution have received notices since Tuesday informing them of the Board's action and intention.

The resolution adopted at the regular meeting of the Board of Education follows:

"Resolved: That, in view of the economic conditions existing at the present time, this Board will not recommend to the new Board this spring the re-employment of any married women teachers, and that the Superintendent be instructed to notify such teachers at once of this action."

The resolution was adopted on February 13, 1934, all members being present but Judge Walter W. Wright, with a unanimous vote.

Members present and voting on the resolution were Lawrence Oakley, Ray Gruney, Dr. R. O. Steinman, Dr. Garm Norbury, Hayden Walker, C. N.
Wright and Samuel Foley. The present of Mrs. E. F. Jordan, who had not vote unless there is a tie.

Acting on instructions of the Board, Supt. R. O. Stoops mailed copies of the resolution to the teachers who come under the provisions of the new rule. There are no married women teachers in the high schools; one in the David Prince Junior High and nine in the grade schools.

"It is the consensus of opinion of the Board," President George B. Kendall said Friday, "that on account of present economic conditions married women teachers should no longer be employed."

Dr. Stoops, when asked about the resolution, said: "My primary interest is securing the best teachers possible for the schools. I will say that some of the strongest teachers in the system are among those ten."

The married teacher question has been up before the board before. Last year the matter was discussed at some length, but because of financial considerations caused by the closing of the Ayers National bank definite action was deferred.

Teachers in the Jacksonville school system are employed by the Board of Education during May of each year.
The meeting for appointment of teachers this year should be held on the second Monday in May.

Lake Cook died at her farm home, east of Chanderville at 2:30 o'clock from a paralytic affection since Mon-the past two years, but was thought to be improving after convalescence during the winter months.

She was an active member of the Methodist church and has a wide circle of friends in Chanderville and the surrounding vicinity.

Mrs. Cook is survived by her husband, Lake Cook, and two broth-

Carbonated Beverage Manufacturers of Illinois in Abraham Lincoln hotel, Springfield, February 21 and 22. He is its official representative.

The code provisions proposed by the national association which will be the subject of a public hearing by the National Recovery Administration in Washington, D. C., on March 8, will be outlined by Mr. Moore. He also will discuss taxation and other problems confronting the industry.

Arrangements for the convention are being made by William R. Carse, Rock Island, President, and Harry Moore, Champaign, secretary of the Illinois association. Because of their keen interest in the proposed NRA code and other matters of importance to the industry in the state which will be discussed, a majority of the bottlers

Southern Normal's Briggs, in the thick of the fight for the Illinois intercollegiate A. A. basketball championship, will be the foe of Illinois College's Blueboys tonight on the Illinois School for the Deaf court, in what is expected to be one of the fastest games on this season's schedule. The game will be called at 8:30 o'clock, and will be preceded by a game between Illinois School for the Deaf and Waverly, scheduled to begin at 7:15 p. m.

Boasting of Holder, Carbondale's senior of a few years ago, and Ralph Davison, star of the Junior City state championship team, the Southern Normal has veterans in every position in the line-up. Coach McAndrew has built a quintet on the speed fundamental of basketball and his lads are said to be one of the fastest breaking and passing teams in the I. L. A. C.

Going easily during the first quarter, the Pikers suddenly began clicking in the second quarter and spurred to an 18-8 lead at the end of the first half. They doubled the score at the end of the third quarter, 30-15, and came through with a huge margin during the final quarter when two of their players were forced out of the game on personal fouls.

Or led the Pittsfield scoring with 11 points, but was tied by Bartlett for the evening's point getting honors. In a curtain raiser, the Pittsfield seconds defeated the Griggsville reserves 47 to 27, and in the nightcap, between the Pittsfield Indians with Coach Strickland in the line-up, and the Griggsville Indians, Griggsville edged out its only victory by a 27-25 score. BRIDEGROOM GOES TO JAIL AS A VAGRANT

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 16.—(P)—It was Donald Keith Brinson's idea to elope with his honeymoon in Havana. Friends of the family had other ideas. Result.

Donald Keith Brinson is in jail on a vagrancy charge. His bride of three days, to whom he was wed after a thirty-six hour courtship, in seclusion in a hotel with her mother, had been told that he would be made to have the marriage annulled.

The bride, the former Florence Marks, 2, daughter of a New York book collector, and Brinson were married at Fort Lauderdale. They were ready to embark on an airplane here to Cuba when a vagrancy warrant was obtained. Friends of the family, whose identity was not disclosed, took the action, police said, at the request of the bride's father, H. F. Marks.

On the marriage license Brinson gave his name as Donald Keith. Police said they learned his real name is Brinson. He said he was born in Chicago and that Los Angeles is his home.

The prisoner said he has a brother, whose name he gave as Walter E. Brinson, associated with a vaudeville circuit in Chicago.

SEES RECOVERY NEAR
Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 16.—(P)—Dr. George F. Warren, financial advisor to President Roosevelt, sees "solid ground" for expecting each year to show a distinct improvement toward recovery.

Speaking before hundreds of farm residents at Cornell's annual farm and home week ceremonies, the Cornell Economist "hoped that provision will be made for an improved monetary system for the future." At this stage of recovery he saw desirability of placing "primary emphasis on the volume of sales and volume of employment."

DOGS, PLANES RACING TO RESCUE OF PARTY
SHIPWRECKED ON ICE

Moscow, Feb. 16.—(P)—An Arctic blizzard bowed today toward a party of 100 shipwrecked persons as they camped on the ice in Bering Straits and waited for 60 dog teams racing to the rescue.

In the party is a five-months old baby, born aboard the Vessel Chelluskin, which sank three days ago on its way back from Wrangel Island with scientists and colonists, both men and women.

Russian airplanes assigned to rescue work had to wait at Providence Bay and Cape Weland for the storm to abate. It was a matter of chance whether the fliers or the dog sledges would reach the scene first.

CHICAGO SWINE MARKET STEADY

Chicago, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The hog market showed steadiness for a time today, but closed weak to 10 cents lower than yesterday. Warmer weather and a decline in demand for fresh pork was a bearish factor which more than offset smaller receipts. The early top was $4.75, but few sold later than $4.60. The bulk of good hogs sold early at $4.25 to $4.65.

Cattle were generally steady on a cleanup market. Best yearlings topped at $6.15 which was considered steady, when the quality of offerings was considered. Weighty steers sold down to $4.50.

Sheep and lambs were fully steady, although in spots lambs were 10 cents lower. Both fed western and native fat lambs topped at $9.75. Sellers failed in an effort to show prices to the $10 level this week. Aged sheep were steady.

STOCK PRICES MUCH HIGHER

By John L. Cooley
Associated Press Financial Writer
New York, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Stocks were higher on balance today, although much of the advancing was done by specialists. Realizing sales helped tone down the market elsewhere.

With the bond composite making a new high for the year, business news of a cheerful nature and Washington advice indicating that some in Congress felt the present regulatory measure was not the final word in that direction, sentiment still seemed to favor the advance. Profit-taking was a factor much of the day, notably toward the close. The stock market's average net change was a small fractional gain, turnover amounting to 2,773,719 shares.

Steels and oils, as well as a group of miscellaneous issues, found special favor with buyers. Chrysler was up to 60, its highest since 1929. Radio-Kathode, Orphen, Congoleum, Youngtown Sheet and Tube, Allied Chemical, A. M. Byers, Armour of Illinois, and the National Cash Register, all advanced. Evans Products and Crucible Steel were leaders, a couple of them finishing about 3 points to the good. Standard Oil of New Jersey's best effort was a 2 point rise.

Power and light shares offered consistent advances and Rails were rather inactive.

DIXIE DUGAN

A Call a Day

By J. P. McEVOY and J. H. STRIEBEL

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT © 1934 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GYPSEY and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS, but while Lila lives in luxury Gypsy has to struggle to keep expenses within Tom's income.

After Gypsy's son is born her days become a dreary round of caring for him and caring for the home. Tom is frequently away from home evenings and Gypsy suspects he is interested in LILA HOTALING, who works in the same office.

Lila confides to Gypsy that she intends to divorce Derek and marry MARKO BROUGHTON, richer and older.

Gypsy's father is seriously injured in a motor accident, but receives Gypsy in no better condition to nurse him. However, Gypsy's friend, SUE CANAVAN, arrives just as Gypsy is leaving.

Gypsy's friend, SUE CANAVAN, arrives just as Gypsy is leaving. SUE CANAVAN is an engineer, in love with Gypsy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII Gypsy repeated but her heart was beating very fast. Sue's blazing eyes, in a white face, accused her.

"I never should have thought of you," Sue went on in a low shaking tone. "Flirting around. You with a nice husband of your own."

"Sue! Why, I've never in the world..." Gypsy was hot, angry, mutinous. Hunt had been a friend; that was all. It was horrid of Sue. Her illness must be affecting her mind...

To Gypsy's amazement and discomfort, the other girl put her handkerchief to her eyes and began to weep. Gypsy glanced around in consternation. There were only a few people at the tables now.

An old lady in black sat in the corner, enjoying a solitary tea. There were two or three absorbed couples. No one was noticing.

"Sue, you mustn't—here!" The other girl gulped, swallowed, put her handkerchief away. "I'm terribly sorry," she apologized. "I didn't mean all I said. Forget it. You can see how it is with me..."

Gypsy saw. Sue, in love with Hunt, desperate, jealous. And yet the accusation rankled. Was there any justice in what Sue had said? Had she, Gypsy, sought succor from her own pain in Hunt's attentions? She winced at the thought.

Impulsively she leaned across and patted Sue's hand. "I'm sorry if you've misunderstood," she said softly. "Hunt's awfully fond of you. See him before you go away."

Sue raised her head proudly. "I'll not run after him," she said quickly. "I'll not run after any man. It was only—well, you see, while he was away he used to write to me. Marvellous letters. I got—sentimental about him then. And when he got back, so tall and distinguished and interesting, I sort of—fell for him, I guess. I was silly of me. But he seemed to like me a lot. Until this winter. Then I began not to see so much of him. And he got in with that Village crowd, Ronny's..."

"I KNOW," Gypsy interrupted to say, with a little spasm of guilt. "Well, then Elsieph drove me crazy, telling me he was in love with you—that he followed you around every place, that he wouldn't go to a party unless he heard you were to be there... I've cried myself sick over it."

"Elsieph!" Gypsy said with fine scorn. "And you listened to her." "Well, she's a mischief maker."

She dressed for the party with mixed feelings. Hunt's arrival made her feel shy as a schoolgirl and self-conscious, too. He admired her new frock, a soft, adroitly curving affair of apricot satins. Tom had not even seen her in it. It set off her rounded small figure and creamy shoulders to perfection.

She went back into the bedroom for her high chair and Elsa was feeding him his supper.

"Good night, darling. Mr. Weaver said he'd be home about 10. Elsa. You remember just what I said about his supper. He said he'd stop at Grand Central for a bite but I'm sure he won't have had time."

"Ya, I fix it," Elsa held the blue mug to the baby's lips.

"Goodbye, angel," Gypsy clutched the little velvet jacket around her dropped a kiss on the back of David's neck and went out.

In the taxi she chattered gaily about nothing at all. Later she told herself she would get around to Sue.

No one, Lila told them lightly, was in town. There were just a few people coming in. Yes, of course she remembered Mr. Gibson and it was sweet of him to come, so informally. Marko was there and two or three young men and their birdlike, beautifully caparisoned young women. Peg, Van, Norrie. Lila always introduced her guests thus, casually.

THE table was a long, gleaming black surface with little white islands upon it. Lace runners. Glass birds. A foam of white flowers in a crystal bowl. Although the night was hot Lila's apartment seemed cool, high above the city.

Hunt seemed to fit in
